Pat Replaces Picinich in Eighth When Val Abuses Umpire.

DETROIT, July 26.—At last! A same has been won by an attack on an umpire.

Yes, sir, ask the Nationals. Mr.

Yes, sir, ask the Nationals. Mr. val Piclnich, temperamental backstop for the Griff aggregation, will be called first to testify.

In the eighth inning of today's fracas between the Nats and Tigers the eccentric Val wound up and heaved his face protector, otherwise known as a mask, right at Umpire Guthrie, a new one in this loop. Then Val tasted the showers. Val had hardly sorten wet under the had hardly gotten wet under the clubhouse waters following his re-tirement from the game than his husky successor—Patrick Gharrity -leaned on a fast one of Olsen's and circuited the bases with the winning run, the score being 5 to 4.

Homer Breaks Tie. Pat's smash came with none out and none on in the ninth. It was a terrific clout and sailed high and far over Tyrus Cobb's dome in center field. It has to be a long one ter field. It has to be a long one when Pat makes the rounds.

So it came about that Vai and the umpire won Washington a game. Val won by a double in the third and a wild pitch in the eighth. Some record for a catcher.

It is possible Val might have homered in the ninth. The odds are he wouldn't have. The next three Nats were easy outs so the game.

Nats were easy outs, so the game might have been going on indef-initely otherwise.

Cobb Hits Hard. George Mogridge thus won his third consecutive game. He al-lowed fourteen hits, but kept 'em

The Tigers took a one-run lead the opening frame. Jones and In the opening frame. Jones and Cobb singled after Blue had flied out to Harris. Veach made it three singles in a row, and Jones crossed the pan. Heilmann, however, added to the Griffs' double play record when he poked to Peck, who tossed to Harris, who relayed to Judge to complete the inning. Cobb and Jones each got three hits during the day's festivities, and Tyrus took a hog lead or batting honors in the American loop, Sisler going hit-lers. Nats Score Three.

SECOND GAME.

Criqui Challenges Kilbane.

Score by innings:

Well, we must get back to Val. Val came up in the third and smashed a wicked one toward Rigney, the ball caroming off the latter's glove. Val caromed to second. Mogridge laid down a neat sacrifice, Jones to Cutshaw, who covered first, and Val took third. Rice caught one to his liking, and shot a triple out centerfield way, Val crossing with the tleing run. Val crossing with the tieing run. Harris managed to get in the way of one and ambled to first, rubbing his shoulder. "Bucky" sure is an artist at it. Judge sent up a high foul near third, which Jones garnered, and Harris shot down to second shortly after on a neat steal. Rice holding third on the play. Goslin drove one which just cluded Cutshaw, and Rice and Harris counted. Brower grounded out to Blue. It totaled three runs on as many hits.

Tigers Tie It Again.

The Tigers got mean right away and before Milan had time to rejoice over the two-run lead, things were snarled up in a vicious knot again Blue flied to Goslin to open the Tigers' half of the third, but Iones and Cobb made themselves half—By Pilette, Harris. Struck ant—By Pilette, 2: by Mogridge, 1: Ince Tigers' half of the third, but Jones and Cobb made themselves troublesome, so far as the Nats were concerned. Jones singled to cetter and Cobb walked. the peg had gotten well started. It was the tying run and he was credited with a steal. Cutshaw then filed to Goslin and the inning was over.

To keep the scoring going. Shanks opened the Griffs' half of the fourth with a single through the box. Jones made a beautiful back-hand stop of Peck's drive and retired the shortstop at first. Cutshaw then made a wild heave on Pleinich's grounder and Shanks romped home and Val reached second. Mogridge struck out. but Rice walked.
